1. What are the chief characteristics of today's world-view? That is, what assumptions do people make about life? Is death the end? What happens after death if it isn't? Are we all here by chance? What about karma or fate?
2. How does this differ from the world-view we hold as Christians? Death? Chance?
3. How much of our own understanding is affected by the views of those around us?
4. What aspects of the gospel do non-Christians find difficult to believe?
